

The Awkward Moments Thread

Hello friends,

I have noticed that there is a crisis going on on the "Embarrassing things we all do and think" thread with people not respecting the criteria of "things we all do" by posting things that are embarrassing but almost unheard of...

To solve this I have created "The Awkward Moments Thread" A place where anyone can share any awkward moment or story they have ever experienced that is solely unique to you.

Feel free to post whatever you'd like, there will be no judging or analyzing any moments.

L'chayim!

My son asked my wife how come you cant be happy where you sleep? My wife asks what do you mean. He responds, well sometimes your beds are together and sometimes they are separate.

That is awkward. Not as awkward as your other post, but pretty darn awkward.

I actually heard a recommendation at a shovavim shuir once to have one big bed and one small bed precisely for this reason. Kids notice the beds moving, but they don't think to consider why you have different sized beds. . .
