Make sure a Ruzhiner einikel wins?

Bei inz fiert men zach az a bardichever einekel darf gewinnen!!!

PS -Why does bar-yochai have to be accompanied by a flute? Electric kazoo isn't good enough for you?

Lag Ba'omer Cholint - minhag bardichev

learn 1 page Kedushas Levi

make a small lechaim, just to make sure the Woodford didn't spoil soak beans overnight, stir with a bow

if you are thirsty, make another lechaim

soak boxer overnight in chai rotel Woodford, stir with arrow your body is 80% water and needs topping off, lechaim!

before making the cholint sing Bar Yochai with some friends, who are sitting in the back of the truck put in the beans, meat, potatoes, onion, spices, ketchup, beer, chicken soup and anything else according to the rebbe's minhag sing Amar Rabi Akiva Ashreichem Yisrael - accompanied by an electric kazoo dehydration is an acute condition, lechaim raffle off the 'Plugging in the crockpot and blessing of the possum hunt ceremony'

make sure a bardichever einikel wins

LeChaim Toivim Eelishuloim!!!

PS -For those of you who will ly"n be in Meron, make sure to stop by my chai rotel hotel/motel right near the tziyon of the heiliger rashbi.

I'll be the one dishing out chai rotel Woodford, in order that we be zoicheh to the re-revelation of the holy rebbe (of this forum) bimheiru beyumeini umein.

PS -It's not just a segulah -when rebbe reb bard's hears that there's chai rotel Woodford to be had, he'll show up -I'm sure! And then we'll dance a karahoot to the sounds of some Yerushalmi guy (R' Meirke Bloi) (who yells all year in order to get hoarse enough for his performance in Meron Lag BaOmer) bellowing out "Oilem, Oilem, Oilem, Oilem, Toirussei Mogein Luhnnoo..." etc. (If you've been there you know what I mean).

An attempt to understand the mysteries of the Cholint thread started by our dear Rebbe Bardichev, may his light shine always.

Can it be that the Rebbe is simply interested in the intricacies of this classic jewish food? can it be a simple recipe-sharing forum? can it be on par with chocolate-chip cookies recipe's and marinated roadkill secrets?

Perish the thought.

Here is the thesis.

The weekdays are called 'chol'. Sand is called 'chol'. Sefarim says that the connection is because during the week we lack inner and outer unity, just as sand is myriad small particles. Shabbos is about unity, raza de'echad. Every jew, no matter who where or what, has a certain intrinsic and inviolate value, a precious segulah, an ahava mesuteres, a hidden love of Hashem (Tanya).

At bo'ee beshalom we say 'toch emunai am segulah', we are fortunate to enter shabbos in the company of other jews, who are 'emunai am segulah', meaning each individual would give his life for yichud Hashem, whether they are aware of it or not.

In poskim it says that someone who does not eat warm food on shabbos is of questionable status and is cause for inquiry, as we may suspect them of being of the followers of those who did not accept the Oral Torah. Inversely, those who do eat warm food (=cholint) on shabbos are affirming and repeating their belief and value of this truth.

So if someone's bottom line is his cholint, so be it, he is a precious Jew.

in case last week's cholint kavanos were too heavy here are some simpler ones

some famous person asked a famous mountain climber why he climbs Mt.Everest to which he responded "because it's there"

so too, why do we eat cholent? because it's good

enjoy your cholent

If I was on the forum I would ask this kashya. We all have a shtikkl minhag to eat chamin on thursday. On a chamsin like today,would u go into the chamma to Chap some chammin?

I.e. Today seperates the men from the boys.

Let's see who are the die hard chooolint eaters.
