I agree with the warning i have fallen do to looking at the Sports Illustrated keep away from them.

If you married and subscribe ask your wife to get the mail for a few days and when it come chuck it out.

I don't personally subscribe but when i see adds or go to the website or other sports sites I get in big triggering trouble.

In THIS snow???? :
BE CAREFUL. the adds will probably stop soon.

Yup. Those ads I guess you refer to were all over NY....as it would only make me miserable should I try to use them, I look the other way and mumble a calm little tefilloh (tatteh helf); chuckle at myself for actually still feeling a real desire for that stupidity (I mean, it only hurts me!); or mumble an "oy vei" - which reminds me of bards and I quickly feel better. Nu, what can I say? I'm just a selfish clam! Hah.

Ranger offseason like normal. Much anticipation and then fall once the season begins. I am hoping for a new ray of sun in the 2010-11 season. If we can only get a few of our draft picks to actually be "stars", one day this team might be good again. I was looking at a picture the other day and realized how long it's been since '94.

I am not sure if the rest of you guys agree but i think that this is a wonderful importunity to discuss such athletes like Big Ben Rothlesburger and Tiger Woods from a GYE stand point. I was listening to the radio and they said that just because what Rothlesberger did was wrong the Steelers should not trade him do we agree? or are morals not important over here and the team should keep him? should his off the field stuff affect his job?
