

Plague of new era

Posted by feedtherightwolf - 13 May 2010 22:23

I was just thinking...

Remember how Jews used to survive plagues in Europe because they would wash their hands before eating?

I wonder if P. addiction is the plague of the new ear... And if our "washing hands" will help us to get through it alive and well.

=====

Re: Plague of new era

Posted by jamies - 24 May 2010 12:26

the square rebbi ca,me to my school and he was talking about every generation having a different mission (like the generation of kabbalat hatora was to revie and accept the torah...) someone asked him what ours was and he said moral purity!!! so HBH is always helping us get through "alive and well" AND THRIVING!

=====

Re: Plague of new era

Posted by DovInIsrael - 25 May 2010 17:04

seems to me we are in the era of the electronic modern day Pharoah...

except rather than wanting to kill only the baby boys we are up agianst the Pharoah who wants to kill all babies.

in my humble thoughts...

Pharoah understood that a child would be born to save the Jews - but was not sure if he would be Egyptian or Jewish ... so killed all boys.

seems like we are at the end of the barrel of available neshamas... and the YH would rather destroy all children than take a chance of Moschiach (even though he already here, he is just waiting on us to get ready)

d.ii

=====

Re: Plague of new era
Posted by jamies - 25 May 2010 20:36

SO TRUE!!!

the time is coming!!!

and steps are so clearly being taken to revive the generation such as the greatest website in the world (this one!!!) but simpletoremember.com comes in at a close second!

=====