1.) For those who haven't been successful at losing weight - Guard Your Size (see #3 below).

2.) For those who compulsively buy tickets to Chinese auctions - Guard Your Prize.

3.) For compulsive complainers - Guard Your Sighs (problem: people may confuse it with #1, so maybe we should call #1 Guard Your Thighs)

4.) To help make safety goggles available to all Yiddishe construction workers - Guard Your Eyes (that name sounds very familiar - we need to check if its been used already).

5.) For compulsive fib tellers - Guard Your Lies.

6.) For compulsive junk food eaters - Guard Your Fries

7.) For wives who want to supervise their addict husbands - Guard Your Guys

8.) To assist air traffic controllers in doing their jobs - Guard Your Skies

9.) For people who compulsively ask questions - Guard Your Whys

12 tips for shmiras eye-nay-im

#1 looking for your wife in the womens section at a chasunah is just that.

Looking for your wife. It is a tremendous mitzvah to look for your wife

#2 Looking for your wife after davening in shul has the same halachos as a chasunah

#3 there is no issur to look at a woman older than you wife

#4 there is no issur to look at a woman younger than your wife

#5 if the woman is wearing a shaitel there is no issur what so ever

#6 your wifes friends and family are all covered under the friends and family plan. So there is no issur .

#7 Women whom you work with fall into a gedder of 'assuk bimilachto"

that also covers the bank teller,the mail woman,and the cleaning lady

#8 Shabbos and Yom tov are times when women wear special nice clothing.It is a mitzvah to look at women who dress well on shabbos and yom tov

#9 vacation has special rules. There are no issurim when you or the person you look at is on vacation

#10 if you are in a bad mood you are exempt from all stringencies in guarding your eyes adderrabbeh if it will bring you to being in a better mood it will be considered a mitzvah.

#11 if you are in a good mood it is also recommended to look at women for you will bless them with your ayin tov. ayin Tov is a good midda

#12 if you live by these rules you will be happy all your days
