

A random thought a day...

Posted by beinhazmanim - 08 Mar 2011 00:19

Strangely enough, it happens to almost be a year since I signed up to this forum. I haven't been on very often - partly because until September, I was in yeshiva with no regular internet access, and partly because I was still too embarrassed to be on much.

I'm going to count 90 clean days.

I came across something in the last couple of days. A site - which shall remain nameless - where frum people posted for years about concerns and questions they had about intimacy, mostly people recently married or about to be married. (It's closed now.)

I'm still not sure how it makes me feel, but part of me feel sort of..... better.

I could have learnt that from here at GYE, but this seems to have sparked something. I'm not strange or abnormal, I just need to learn to control myself... what is and is not ok...

A random thought a day keeps the yetzer hora away.

I'm going to post a few lines every day for 90 days bli neder. What you'll find - I can't say. I might talk about music, weather, math (which I'm studying), computer games, or even torah ;D One update per day, for 90 days. I've tried this before. Let's try again.

Thank you GYE, for giving people like me a chance.

This is day 0.

=====

Re: A random thought a day...

Posted by oblum - 08 Mar 2011 08:43

beinhazmanim wrote on 08 Mar 2011 00:19:

This is day 0.

What? Dedicated to me? I'm touched! I'll be rooting for you, and can't wait to see you on the other side...

=====

=====

Re: A random thought a day...

Posted by Yosef Hatzadik - 08 Mar 2011 18:05

Or is Reb O beginning to smile?!

=====

=====

Re: A random thought a day...

Posted by silentbattle - 08 Mar 2011 20:28

Welcome back! Posting is something that I've always found to be very useful, and was a big part of my recovery.

=====

=====

Re: A random thought a day...

Posted by oblum - 08 Mar 2011 21:06

Yosef Hatzadik wrote on 08 Mar 2011 18:05:

Or is Reb O beginning to smile?!

=====

Re: A random thought a day...

Posted by ZemirosShabbos - 08 Mar 2011 21:14

www.guardyoureyes.org/forum/index.php?topic=3159.0

=====

Re: A random thought a day...

Hey, dont push it >
Posted by bein hazmanim - 09 Mar 2011 00:20

o wrote on 08 Mar 2011 08:43:

What? Dedicated to me? I'm touched!

I'm afraid you're being slightly optimistic in terms of the dedication there... but thanks for taking an interest

Well, not such a bad day - in every way. (Great to see the start of spring. The weather's suddenly much nicer!)

Thanks all who dropped by, and make me feel like other people are actually reading this. It's appreciated.

A short thought for today: What do you get if you cross a joke with a rhetorical question?

This is day 1.

=====
=====

Re: A random thought a day...

Posted by Yosef Hatzadik - 09 Mar 2011 15:28

beinhazmanim wrote on 09 Mar 2011 00:20:

A short thought for today: What do you get if you cross a joke with a rhetorical question?

Answer: A smile!

=====
=====

Re: A random thought a day...

Posted by beinhazmanim - 10 Mar 2011 00:05

Yosef Hatzadik wrote on 09 Mar 2011 15:28:

Answer: A smile!

The point is that there is no answer..... Are you American, by any chance? Humour is different in our colony ;D

One of the greatest cartoons ever (no tznius problem unless you count a rough cartoon of half a woman in trousers as a problem):

<http://happinessandwarmguns.files.wordpress.com/2010/10/jon6.gif>

This is day 2.

=====

Re: A random thought a day...

Posted by beinhazmanim - 11 Mar 2011 13:08

Dodecahedron: Why, did you know that if a beaver two feet long with a tail a foot and a half long can build a dam twelve feet high and six feet wide in two days, all you would need to build Hoover Dam is a beaver sixty-eight feet long with a fifty-one-foot tail?

Milo: Where would you find a beaver that big?

Dodecahedron: I'm sure I don't know, but if you did, you'd certainly know what to do with him.

This is day 3.

=====

=====