

new guy starting out/ bain hazimanim is my hard point

Posted by Holy Yid - 29 Jul 2009 21:49

I am a Bachor in Yeshiva. Generaly during the Zeman I don't have access to unsupervised internet and so I do not run into problems (the times that I have had access I did have problems). When I'm home I'm a mess. I am home for at least part of the summer. I have been clean for a week. I do not feel comfortable asking my parents to get a filter. So I am asking for guidelines regarding internet use.

I want to stay off entierly but I need this site and there are things my parents ask me to checkup. I don't trust my judement on making rules because in the past I have 'made excuses' and done more and more and then BOOM.

I am thinking about only request and only this site with my email up to switch to if somone walks by.

Please give me some feedback and ideas.

This site in little amount of time I've been on it has helped me tons.

Thanks for being there when I need you.

Yes, my holy yid. That was us (did you hear the echo?)

KUTGW!

Letakain I sent you an IM

how do i read it?

i don't even know if it's applicable anymore.

just wanted to be there cuz no one else was on the forum at the time.

hope i didn't overstep any boundaries!

I am doing fine now. I got in touch with someone else. Even if I did not get in touch with you it helps to know that people care. I was wondering why you did not get back to me. Actually, I made mention in the IM which never got sent that I am not excited about being in personal contact with you in light of our genders. I guess I am starting to pick up Guards train of thought.

Hard to believe, considering the user name you chose!
