

new guy starting out/ bain hazimanim is my hard point

I am a Bachor in Yeshiva. Generally during the Zeman I don't have access to unsupervised internet and so I do not run into problems (the times that I have had access I did have problems). When I'm home I'm a mess. I am home for at least part of the summer. I have been clean for a week. I do not feel comfortable asking my parents to get a filter. So I am asking for guidelines regarding internet use.

I want to stay off entirely but I need this site and there are things my parents ask me to checkup. I don't trust my judgement on making rules because in the past I have 'made excuses' and done more and more and then BOOM.

I am thinking about only request and only this site with my email up to switch to if someone walks by.

Please give me some feedback and ideas.

This site in little amount of time I've been on it has helped me tons.

Litvish thought has a strong focus on holiness, but it is realized through mundane everyday activities

Like smashing the computer... While the chasid uses the computer to make GYE ;D

P.S. Hey, nothing against Litvaks. I used to be one too. On GYE, we love all yidden, yes, even die-hard-litvaks :D

I love everyone also. Everyone developing on their own derech, as a part of the whole of Klal Yisroel ,made us beautiful and holy. I believe that most of the princilpes discussed here can be found in Mussar teachings but at the moment I don't the time to properly research it and make an intelligent presentation.

P.S. Hey, nothing against Litvaks. I used to be one too.

I am going out on a limb here.

I believe that many of my close friends here misunderstand teshuva. Teshuva is a very deep and developed concept. It is the vehicle of any real change. The concepts of recovery all in line with teshuva.

Dov, don't jump on me yet.

Understanding teshuva is similar to the experience of learning gemara in high school and then later in your early twenties. The understanding you have of the gemara when you are older makes the learning that you did when you are younger seem like you where learning two different materials. You can't compare the two learnings at all. The depth and development of the suggia when you are older makes the understanding you had when you where younger look like something completely different.

The same with teshuva. When we were kids we where taught about teshuva. We may have learnt teachings of Chazal and other seferim about teshuva but we did not integrate these concepts into our understanding and practice of teshuva.

No one thinks a kid really understands math like a guy in collage. The same with politics. We need to seek to understand the depths that Chazal teach us about teshuva and apply them.

For some of us we tried to do teshuva as we understood it and failed. To revisit teshuva is too painful at the moment. For you leave teshuva and focus on recovery. But if you can please try to realize that Yiddishkeit has a tremendous amount o depth in it and if we look we can find recovery in Yiddishkeit also.

YES I KNOW WHAT YOU MEAN

LITVISH TYPES ARE TAUGHT TO BE "LESS" EXPRESSIVE WITH THIER FEELINGS AND EMOTIONS

THEY ARE REWARDED BY DEEP AND ANALYTICAL THOUGHT DILIGENCE AND SELF SACRIFICE AND DEPENDING ON WHICH SCHOOL OF THOUGHT WITHIN THE THE YESHIVAH SYSTEM IT CAN BE PERCIEVED AS "SHTULTS" =SELF-ESTEEM OR SELF

DEPRECIATION AND DEEP INTROSPECTION AND BORDERS ON THE EDGES OF ATZVUS

CHASSIDIM WHO ARE ON THE OUTSIDE OF THE YESHIVAH WORLD LOOKING IN

NEED TO USE A KEEN EYE AND NOT BE TOO JUDGEMENTAL

THE LITVISH WORLD HAD WITHIN IT AND HAS WITHIN IT

TREMENDOUS GEDOLAI OILAM WHO POSSES ALL THE MIDDOS AND MAALOS THE CHASSIDIM STRIVE FOR

WHY DO THEY "SEEM" COLD WHY DON'T THEY "TZIFLAKKER" BY NISHMAS

HEY THESE QUESTIONS ALL HAVE ANSWERS

CHASSIDISH TYPES ARE USUALLY MORE EXPRESSIVE WITH THEIR FEELINGS AND MORE OPEN TO INCLUDE OTHERS IN THEIR CIRCLE

THEY ARE REWARDED ALSO BY DILIGENCE AND SELF-SACRIFICE BUT ADDED TO THAT THE SHULTS IS NOT THERE ON AN INDIVIDUAL BASIS IT IS MORE GENERAL AS A PRIDE IN BELONGING TO A CERTAIN REBBE ETC.

YESHIVISH TYPES WHO ARE ON THE OUTSIDE LOOKING IN

ALSO NEED TO USE A KEEN EYE AND NOT BE TOO JUDGEMENTAL

THE CHASSIDISH WORLD HAS WITHIN IT MASMIDIM AND LOMDIM THAT WOULD MAKE ANY ROSH YESHIVAH PROUD

WHY DO THEY DAVEN LATE AND WHY WOULD A MASMID LEAVE HIS GEMARA TO GO TO HIS REBBES 'TISH'

HEY THESE QUESTIONS ALL HAVE ANSWERS

I have three confessions to make.

1. I spend way too much online. I have things to do but I spend the time online. Does that make me an internet addict?

2. I have been careless twice in the last week. That almost brought me to falling. That would have been a big setback in my life. If I had fallen I do not know if I could have stopped a downward spiral. That would have hurt me allot and disrupted my life ALLOT. I am glad I held back back, but I could have been more careful. My excessive time online is in large part why I came to these carelessness.

3. I got upset at myself for being so careless. This can cause me to fall also.

I got to 70 days today. For the pat few days it has only been getting harder. The 70 day email was a big help and I found the story of Jack. At times I feel like I might lose part of my mind or justslip back into the old ways. I know that in a year I will be very happy that I held out. I know that I am looking to escape something and the pull is just a path to run from life. There is BH much good in my life and I see from the others here that G-d was kind to me that I did not fall farther than I did. All this not withstanding I am asking for some persective on this from anyone. I think the histerya that often is the tone of these kind of posts is counterproductive for me. If I act like I am loosing it then it is much more likely that I will. This is not a philisophical piece, I sent out IMs for help.
