Bechira, first of all welcome. Second, the 90 day chart is not a magic pill that somehow keeps you sober. If you fell because you didn't have access to the 90 day chart, chances are you need more than simply the 90 day chart. And if all it takes is the 90 day chart well just write down today's date and when you get access to the chart you can put down the date your starting counting. Third, the 90 day chart works best when used in conjunction with the chizzuk of the forum. So start a thread, tell us about your struggle and get some chizzuk. In the meantime to the extent that your recent fall relates to watching porn, then check out the filter page and install one. Wishing you much hatzlacha.

Thanks ur a jew fr your reply. Its not that i just got to know te gye enviroment, actually i have been visiting this wonderfull place like 2 month already, i have read through both of the handboks which lead me to a 22 day breakthrough (oy s is beeshes vecherpes...) but then i decided that a public chart together with people who care for me would be much more sufficient.

Thank you anyway, and i hope there are some administrative guys around here who will be able to solve my problem.
