I fell this morning.

I had began slipping two weeks ago and didn't hit the emergency brakes quick enough until things snowballed out of control. Spent an hour looking for porn on youtube last night on (another) old smart phone lying around, didn't get enough sleep and this morning... Wham!

(I know this happened once before and I was insane for thinking there would be different results)

what I did to get moving again:

- 1. I threw the batteries out
- 2. I made a personal 90 chart on the new-and-improved 90-day chart and shared it with my safe friend
- 3. we spoke what I did and how it can be prevented in the future
