

Nice to be home!!!

Posted by HashemsSoldier - 07 Jul 2013 21:13

hello,

for those who dont know me.....you should get ready for the king of typeoes.....a lot of misspelled words in case i spelled typo wrong.....anyways about a year ago i was on the old forum see there....i have a couple threads over there.

baruch hashem at the time i was doing quite well compared to where i was coming from but i still had and have a lot of work to continue doing.

some things that i for sure want to emphasise about coming back....the group support is amazing chizzuk!

i have another issue.....theres always those 2 or 3 things that bother you (really there are like hundreds of things that can bother a person at one time) but right now most of them in me boil down to 2 main klalim so these 2 or 3 things actually consist of many things....(this is actually the 4th and 5th step of the 12 steps) and that is for sure something the key is simcha!

btw i use the yeshiva computer so im not sure about how consistant i can be it looks like fridays will be my longer days to look around at other people threads but other days i only have 5 or 10 min at a time...so i will try to check in as much as possible.....

An old man jusmps into a freezing river to save a drowning cat.

After he comes out someone asks him "wow, you must really love animals, are you a vet?"

He answers "Of course I'm vet, I'm freezing"

In my very old and wet experience, it is having the fear of a wet dream that most often causes one, and not much else. A great, old sefer says that, too. (I will not quote it, though, becs it is one of those sforim that has probably caused more wet dreams than all the porn in the world - cuz it makes us obsessive-compulsively sperm-fearing guys have wet dreams.)

Really.

perhaps that's true, but I just had one; on R"h none the less; I haven't had one in ages, and there was no fear on my part whatsoever beforehand; it completely took me by surprise! Again, not saying that your assortment is not the case.

The second night, it almost happened again, and there I did have a fear of it happening.

A chasid dives into the freezing river and, after a while, emerges with what looks like a sopping wet cat. "Such mesiras nefesh for tzaar baalei chayim!" exclaims an onlooker. "Not at all", says the chasid. "That's my expensive shtreimel."

As I already said recently, we should have a "happy" new year.

I believe I once heard that as the explanation as to why it is considered a nes that the Cohen Gadol on Yom Kippur never saw Keri. Why should we expect him to on such a holy day with holy thoughts? The answer is like Dov said, fear of Keri can cause it.

On a related note. Although it is brought down that seeing Keri on Yom Kippur is potentially a bad sign, I saw it brought down that it does not apply to us who have improper thoughts. In that case, it is not a sign of anything. For someone who generally has pure thoughts, it can be a siman from Shomayim.

I wish us all a Keri-free Yom Kippur, but don't freak out if it happens.

Rav Shternbuch in Moadim Uzmanim has a piece on this and explains it's not a sign that one will die (or whatever it is that that Chazal say about one who sees Keri on YK). I don't remember what he wrote though.

You remind me of a children's tape by Rabbi Fischel Schechter:

There was a kasha, ummm, but I don't remember the kasha... and ummm, there was a terutz.... but, I don't remember the terutz... I do remember though!

Warning: Spoiler!
