I like that you named your thread "first day." That way, your 2nd day will be your first day, and your third day will be your first day, and your fourth day will be your first day...and you 90th day will be your first day...and your 1000th day will be your first day...

You will see much hatzlacha with this attitude.

I've never thought of it that way. Thank you for the encouragement.

if you hang around here enough you'll be thinking entirely differently within a few weeks!!

ONWARD!! Day One!!!

Almost done with 3rd day. Got a little hard in the middle of the day, but I fought through with the help of Hashem. Thank you!!

How did you fight through it? How are you going to make sure you avoid the fight tomorrow??

Just trying to learn from you and to make sure you keep learning from the experience!

Ok. Get up and start moving again. Don't stay on the floor.

What do you think led to you falling?
