

Trying to get a streak going

So basically i had a great streak going for 240 days on the first try and since then i have been lagging with a few mini streaks my current streak is 8 days lets hope i can keep this forever.

Now today i am having a really hard time i want to try to understand whats happening to me so i can grow stronger for the future.

So basically the story in a nut shell is as follows. I sold somebody goods that i was told by my vendor a detail of the goods is 1 way but at the end of the day was another. now the guy i sold it to just realized and is really mad at me end of story

Now when someone is rightfully angry at me it causes the kind of stress that pushes me to lust.

I can relate to that stress. I can share with you what a big talmid chochom once told me about a similar situation.

The other guy is upset and/or stressed. Nothing will be gained by you also being stressed.

Acceptance is the key. If you did something wrong, then learn the lesson and go vayter. business is business. You messed up. He got messed up. You will both be doing plenty of business in the future. perhaps not together, but who cares? there are plenty of fish in the sea.

Keep on trucking, buddy.
