

Toughing it

Posted by polar bear - 08 May 2015 00:59

Hi, I'm kind of new...

Today is the 2nd day? (Or will be if I hang in there...)

A storm is warming up on the horizon. I am going to snuggle up stubbornly until it passes.

If it passes...

Everything is going to be okay.

Thanks for listening.

My 'drugs' are currently the 90 day chart, the taphsic method, and support from you guys on the forum and some partners.

I was so close to falling the other day that I decided to pay my taphsic big knas just incase. I ended up making four times the amount of the knas on the same day! I guess HASHEM is trying to tell me something.

I've decided to limit my time on gye for a while in order to make it give me a bigger impact when I am on it. When you eat too much sushi or pizza, you get used to it, it loses it's specialty. I want gye to stay special. I still come on on a daily basis, as not coming on every day can probably have the negative effect, but I won't linger on it for hours, that way I won't get too used to it.

So far it has been working.

I am also going to polish my taphsic distractions and knases. quite a few sheilos surfaced when I decided to pay the big knas - is the shvuah still chal since I didn't really fall, even though I'm paying the knas? My regular 'knas' yeshiva is closed, can I go to another one instead? I'm going to have to write this up.

Recently I called a chaver as one of my distractions, I was just planning to shmooz for a while until my urge went down, but he invited me to go out instead. I gladly agreed and I went out for a few good hours. When I came back there was nothing left of the struggle, I was so tired.

Great!

The problem with the 90 day chart and taphsic is that they are essentially designed to bolster

Try finding a drug that treats the disease, not the symptoms.

Haha, Cordnoy, you slam-dunked it in one sentence again. I'm going to remember that. Poet Laureate of GYE, you are!

Any suggestions?

Read 10 minutes from the big book every day.

Or any of the other books.

Join a call.

10 minutes of mussar daily.

Discuss with a mentor.
