

I NEED HELP!!

Posted by LevTahor13 - 15 Dec 2015 21:09

Please GYE community. This is an outcry from a lost and tortured Jewish soul. I joined GYE about 6 months ago and attempted the 90 day journey. I've since lost motivation after multiple failed attempts. About a month I desperately applied for a sponsorship but I don't think anything ever came out of it. I have no direction and I feel like I'm stuck in a pit with no way out. I know that GYE is my best opportunity to get clean but I need to be more involved! I know myself well enough that if I don't see immediate progress I'll become discouraged and quit. That's where I need active help and encouragement from the members of GYE to stick with the process and check the website often. PLEASE! If anyone has advice as how to stay motivated to be involved in the community or get a sponsor please help! please

I just need to remember that no situation can't be made worse by acting out.

Has that helped you in the past

But tell me, what tune up have you done to get your lust truck started

All the best!!

Tune up for a lust truck!?

I never needed any.

My lust never ran outta gas.

Never needed oilin'.

Key was always in da ignition.

Sometimes there was traffic in da way, but other than that, I was ridin' on da freeway (to Hell.....in my pink Cadillac).

BH today was a good day. I have finals right now so I'm busy either studying or learning most of the day. There were still a few tests but luckily I was able to handle them today. Hopefully it'll carry over tomorrow!
