I had a long day of work yesterday, no time for M. I have living relationships to enjoy the journey with. I don't make up the responses of the others. I listen and let them be themselves, and I find patiently who's they are inside, and find ways to help them reach their best potential. The dream world is only about my imagination, when I use to practice m. I had shut the world of matter out of my life, and only had nightmare, awakening out of intimacy to find was all alone. I will not limit others to be my thoughts, I will live beside them, entering their world when it is wise to do so. On my ride to work I often see when I sing on my bicycle how the birds love to sing back their song as I sing mine, and I enjoy what I can of theirs. We each have something to share, they sometimes join me for a few minutes as they move up the phone lines to stay with me. This is a better relationship, I look forward to more exchange in days to come with bird and man or woman. I am learning to develop talking no sexual relationship with mothers, daughters, wife's, neighbors, etc. It is great to win other humans of the opposite sex who are not going to be my physical attraction, but humans with soul and spirit to have friendship contact, and to develop a one human family of man, rather than isolating lusting envy. Yes there are destructive relationship out their, and these many need to be avoided. Yet if the earth and it humans can never be reclaimed for good, why settle for isolating life. Our Maker is big enough to heal all desire of man, and bring abundance of good to all who serve righteousness, I am a part of it, today and forever. Day 86

A thank you to doingtshuva, it is so nice to direct personal support, I made sure extra karma came your way, and in my prayer, and if we lived close, you would get a gift of organic food from my gardens, if you like that type of food.

Day 88: Happy Shabbat

I have been reminded that weeds removed before seeds fall, are much easier kept long term.

Day 89: From time to time the weed seeds of lust seek to lead to m. The battle for me is not just m. It is the lust, the desiring for someone else's wife, or fathers girl. Dear Creator, help me to be true to the family as You have it to us in Eden. For me my thoughts shall be made right by our Maker. Tomorrow is not the end of journey, it is and another beginning.

I cross over the 90' it now 98 days, I say, only two days to 100, I am working on paying my promise, $90. so sorry it is slow, feeding the hungry locally, blessing the Poor with help, no strings attached, growing gardens for fallen soldier who wish war would end, and who make an attempt to bring native forest back to our woods. Days of work are long, or the hunt for work that pays right is so far answered as prayer, when I need it the most. One of my motivations this week is to train my boy by example, so lust is not their continue battle. We have simple code on street, when an immodesty dress woman comes our way, we then all know to look another way. It is quite delightful when my sons are in the groove, and warning the three of us to look the other way, and now that they are both teenagers it is hopeful, they will continue to use their hormones for good deeds, and wait for the wedding night to seal the covenant of marriage, with no previous experience to marr their bond with the woman chosen by HaShem, bless the One who hold time in His presence. My wife reminds my of how our Maker let her know I would be a blessing to her, she was not interested in any, when she met me. All her questions were answered, and now 13 years later, in much prayer, I don't want the word of our Maker to be unfulfilled for my woman. I glad to report, everyday day though not perfect, we have a sweeter marriage, and it is an awesome future to look forward too, when we talk of death, we hope we have each other a long time, but with love we remind each other please move on if she finds another, once I am gone, but neither of us will let go now, it is a relationship forged in 'we will with our Creators help find a way to make it work.'

May your Purim be blessed too, Our family will enjoy a reminder of the event, though not Jews, we hope that your people will never again have to face extinction again, and as long as I live your people shall have my voice, and my witness, you may not be perfect, but the book you have given to humanity is worth living for, even if there was no G-d, yet Though yet for me, and my family we seek after your Maker, and though we are not among the religions of the world, even Purim story is a great story, that a simple tasty meal, can make us all kings, if we do not wish bad upon HaShems chosen, hope you will always please the Almighty.

My 90 days, I did make it, it had lots of images to deal with, even the library computer, some of my bosses wives, prayer helped greatly, reading others tests, victories, and trials here, now no way do I wish to lost what I gained, my journey is now aiming for the double 90 + 90, 6 months. On the wall of honor is worth continuing, hope to see you there.
