Today I'm 89 days clean. Now it's just one day left to 90!

These days have brought me incredible experiences and I feel like new every time I click 'I'm still clean' on the chart. Tomorrow is a big day but it's also a reminder that, if I was able to do this, then I can do it for one more day after it. And, hopefully, another one, and another one, and another one, over and over again, meets no end. B'ezrat Hashem!

Thank you all who are in this war! Your strength and courage to fight gives every one of us here hope. B"H!
