

Singularity's Journey

Posted by Singularity - 12 Jul 2016 09:18

Well here I am, aaaagain! Actually this is the first time I've posted in this forum but I've decided to give it a 90-days go. Again. Oh boy.

BH married, 2 wonderful kids and a good job. Good learning and constantly striving for closeness to Hashem. Now have to kick this habit.

I'm in two minds. One one hand, it's good to track progress and discuss your falls and high moments. It gives chizuk for the long haul ahead. However is there not also an idea that the less attention you give something, the less of a problem it is? Any ideas?

Well here I am on day 1. The bulk of Shavuos to Rosh Hashonah is about passed. We're in Bamidbar - a desolate stretch of Torah (from Beha'aloscha at least) where we as a nation fell gravely and were beaten time and time again, due to Ta'avah and Kavod. All put to an end by Pinchas's sole act of zealousness, the seal to all the impure outflow. And I feel it reflects in the time of year. Nothing's happening! No Chagim. Worse, 17th of Tammuz, 9th of Av. It's the Yetzer Hara's playing ground and I always get knocked down strongest here. It's a metzi'us. So I wish to be a phoenix rising from the ashes of a downtrodden nation. And let's all be that together iyH.

Elul will be a lot easier I feel. It's the desolate months of Tammuz and Av that pose the real challenge. But let's see how it goes. Day 1!

Something bothering me is that whenever I think of my past when I was single, the first thought that comes to mind is "Oh man, that was the life, I could just act out as much as I wanted and nobody really cared. Just eat and act out". I don't know if anyone can relate, looking at the past with such longing? I really have to tell myself afterwards that I am in a MUCH better place right now, wife kids responsibility purpose. And eventually I realise the longing is false. It's funny really.

I hate it when people use me against me!!!

I was wiser five days ago than I am now; I was closer to dor ha'midbar!!!

Thanks reb Meyer!

A quick checkin.

Sober about 2 months. Loving lockdown life. No commute hassles, no social awkwardness, work from home and surrounded by loving family.

Awesome job doing web development. Leading a small team and working on people skills.

I see all posts here when people have just acted out and they try and kinda explain what happened and I hear a lot of stuff and make up a lot of stuff myself! But really it's just so bizarre there's really no real explanation to it. I recall the part in the big book where it says "and if you ask the alcoholic honestly, he'll tell you he has just as little of an idea why he drank again than you do"

I've tried for years to find the right words.

I see there are no right words. Just action.

God, may I be useful today.

Love your attitude!

I've got a lot to learn from you.

You are really insightful and inspiring.

Thanks

Not having to take my kid to school in the other end of town is heaven on earth lol.

I'm also working shorter hours too.

Loving it too.

Keep up the great work!!! Love your content.
