

alwayzdavening's 90 day journey ????? ??

Posted by alwayzdavening - 12 Dec 2016 02:52

I started my journey today. I never really struggled with looking at girls, but I struggle with masturbation. I have struggled with it since I was 14 years old, and now I am 16. I wrote up a shtar for the TaPHSiC method today, and I joined the 90 day program. I hope that with Hashem's help I can break free

With HaShem's help, you can do anything!

Do not get depressed and do not give up...that I can tell you from experience.

I was advised to get rid of all videos and streaming videos.

The less images you are exposed to, the better...and easier it will be to break free.

I am trying this myself. And yes, it is VERY VERY difficult, since it's such a "go to" habit.

Hatzlocha! The first step is a bold step!

So masturbation alone? If you don't look at girls then what triggers the act?

What triggers it? I think it's because I get "spontaneous erections" and and I find it hard to control myself. I masturbate because the climax and leading up to the climax feels good.

It's especially hard in the shower where I don't have to worry about cleanup, and I have the use of soap which makes leading up to climax feel even better.

I am hopeful that the TaPHSiC method will help.

What triggers it? It's really just the feeling that I get while climaxing, also I get "spontaneous erections" and if i'm in private it's hard to resist. I don't really think of anything while masturbating.

However, after I do it I feel very guilty about it and I promise never to do it again. I abstain between a day to a week and then I do it again. It's a vicious cycle.

That it is, brother.

Just gotta ride this twister to the top, and make sure you at least have a hang-glider when you get there!
