Sounds really disappointing and tough. However your honesty is A1. And that will pull you out of this mess with Hashem's help. Dont curse yourself. You are a great guy who has inspired so many of us. Just try to figure out what triggers ignite bein hazmanim and try to prepare for them in advance. Maybe someone should start a thread about the bein hazmanim nisyonos and suggestions. I am sure many out here have experienced the challenges and the successes. and have good ideas to share.

Thank you all for the posts and support

There were no triggers nothing but old territory that I thought I prepared for but guess I didn't.

I have since had many more opportunities and did not have any problems B"H and now have switched local for awhile so all is good.
