

Still Raging Against The Machine

Posted by Cry2Tatty - 30 Nov 2009 01:17

so thats pretty much the deal...i showed up here one day by accident and saw something weird...here were all these jews that where putting up a genuine resistance to the evil empire that is lust...in all my wanderings ive seen some crazy crap but something like this? not at all...i saw two dozen frum blogs but alas, they too were contaminated by the lust assault..poor figures...nothing more than drones following the creed that larry flynt recieved himself on Mount Sinai...disguised as frum sites but nothing of the sort, really....did i find any voices that said, "look, this sh aint right..."...probably but a quick peruse through and i discovered that they were either out of touch with reality or just plain silly...and then i bumped into this site...and here was real and GENUINE and honest solutions....so i came...i looked around...marveled at all the flakes that took up residency here....

well, im now on at least 20 days of no pr0n and no bating...which is a miracle...its been years and years before i came here that i wasnt able to pull 5 days together and many many months where i stopped even trying....i dont know what happened but the group support and the genuineness of the good folks here and hearing their experiences and lo and behold i am a changed man...

the changes were not only in me but perhaps even greater in the people around me...no longer driven by lust i saw people (WIFE) in a new light and the changes in the way we relate to each other was quick and vast....this is perhaps what i owe GYE the most for....

i dont take myself too seriously and i hope you dont either....

OK, so the name is lame but they have some decent music. I say decent because I side with Metallica in the Megadeth/Metallica feud.

I really prefer "tallica.

Check out "Nothing Else Matters" to see why (it's a ballad, not in-your-face-blow-out-your-eardrums metal).

'tallica is just more musical and their songs are more powerful. They have meaning.

Oh, and Rage: You've actually counted?

I must admit to not being into very heavy stuff...although I liked meallica (during their alternative rock phase: puppets, black, lightning, load, reload), I only know one megadeth song (trust). These days, tohugh, my taste is a smidge lighter - I find myself being a huge fan of 3 doors down, and some of nickelback's stuff, althogh some of it needs to be censored. But c'mon - has everyone seen the music video for "if today was your last day?" I thought it was brilliant...

Yeah, sadly, jewish music has its issues...I still like journeys (1,2, and 3, not into 4), destiny (largely because of how much I liked it when I was younger), moshav band, kol achai (gret harmonies), even shesiya (chilled out rock, but a real band), plus I try to get ahold of any songs my friends make and throw them on my ipod.

You're right. I know that for me, the temptation is that I'll just do it for now. Obviously, that's not what I want my whole life to be. But day by day, we're choosin what are lives are, and will be.

As always, you have an ability to learn from the things around you the lessons that hashem wants you to see.

wake up people!!

i read a story today about a guy that was 100 years old and being released from prison this week after finishing a 10 year sentence. Hes been in and out of jail his entire life for sex related offenses. the last time he was sentences the judge said, "you will die in prison." turns out hes quite spry. in fact, the reverend that ran the halfway house in which this 100 year old dude spent the past few months is horrified at the fact that this guys gonna be out in the public...the reverend is convinced this guy will strike again and claims the guy actually is very healthy and can pull it off. this 100 year old guy is gonna have to register as a sex offender and he will only be the SECOND youngest person (theres a 103 yo dude out in the west somewhere)...

so, yeah, most of us here are not anywhere near as sick as this dude BUT teh lesson to be learned is that you must address this kind of stuff early and its never too late to be considered early.... because it simply will not go away...and after 100 years on this planet we would want a better life to look back on than this crazy grampa has....

One of my rabbeim would always say: even when you get old youll still have the same tayvos you just wont have the feet to get you to them. Profound and Prophetios. If thers such a word. :D

Gemara at the end of Ezehu Neshech -

"3 Hashem hates??? ???? " - (another one is ?? ????? ????? ???? - but that's a different story)

I just read a story about a nursing home murder - this 98 year old woman killed her 100 year old room mate. Go grandma!

When I was back in sem we went and sang and danced in an old age home during Chanuka.

Because there were to be male residents too, we asked a shaila to our Rav, one of the gedolaei hador then and now.

We wanted to know if it was okay to sing in a group, and dance in front of them;

after all, the average age was 80 plus.

His answer: Im around that age now. Still have natural teivos.

Come back to me at 90 and we can rediscuss it if things have changed!!

Rabbi Miller was once in the hospital and asked for a male nurse. The doctors said to him "but you're an old man already!". "Yes", replied Rabbi Miller, "but I don't want to become young again!"

Some comedian once said, "when I was young, I'd run after temptation... Today, temptation runs from me!" ;D

Theres a famous story with R Elya Lopian. A bocher once told him that he thinks hes gotten past his yh and doesnt have tayvos anymore, therefore excusing actions that he was doing. R Elya answered him; "im in my 70's blind in one eye and can barely see from the other and i still have tayvos to look at improper things". Enough said.

Nope. Doesn't do anything for me.

Actually, I can't stand "Jewish" music. Just can't.
