B"H I'm up to day 39 on my way to 90 beautiful days, BH every day I feel fresher and better I'm looking fwd the whole day to highlight another pure day. but there's one little thing which bothers me, and it is the thinking of falling back...

I feel like i can work on myself and move fwd but in the long run and even in the short run if I do fall it's not a matter of picking up yourself and continuing my drive I feel like I lose my trust which bothers me a little especially when i see myself as a person that i set myself good and effective goals and i dont need the live meetings to grow.

Would love to hear your thoughts about this!!
