Welcome I-Man to this great club!!!
Your story sounds very familiar here on the forums many of us could have written that post.
You are between guys who care understand and really want to help. So make yourself comfortable and keep on posting!!!

Looking forward to seeing you around!!!

Hello and Welcome To Gye!!

This website might seem quite daunting at first. You will get loads of advice from all sorts of people. Make sure take gradual steps. Don't try and learn everything in one go. Also don't expect instant results. All Hashem wants is you to keep moving in the rights direction- leave the rest to Him!

You mentioned in your post that you wanted to win the battle of 'good vs evil' however I suggest you look at it with a slightly different perspective. Treat it in a way in which you are allergic to anything to do with 'lust'. As long as you stay away from the 'nuts' you will be able to lead a normal life. This is just a choice between 'living' life and facing your problems vs 'escaping' from life by using this drug.

life by using this drug.
Hope you understand this!!

Hi everyone
almost up to level 4 B'H' so far so good I'm a bit apprehensive because based on my history i usually don't go more than 2/3 weeks clean so this is where the real challenge lies .
any good ideas to strengthen/prepare myself for the inevitable challenge?
