Happy to start day one. Not certain how this is going to work after many failures. I'm hopeful this time will be different. Excited to share this journey with others.

Welcome!

With the help of HaShem and the many people here at GYE plus a healthy dose of determination, this time will be different.

Just know, that for most of us it's a process and it may not happen just like that. Don't get discouraged, it happens to the best of us.

The most important thing is to keep trying and to keep growing.

Looking forward on hearing from you here.
