

OivedElokim-I'll never give up

Posted by OivedElokim - 21 Feb 2021 21:37

Day one.

This is my brand new thread for my brand new journey towards purity.

I will keep with me the lessons learned so far and keep my eye on the ball.

Today is the first day of the rest of my life.

A porn and masturbation free life.

A life of positivity and happiness.

A life of Torah and Avodah.

The life G-d intends for me to live.

Wish me luck.

Day #61

A few weeks ago I started writing a post in honor of getting 101 Karmas-101 is a special number for me and is very connected to my username. I hope to finish writing that post sometime today.

So I shouldn't raise you to 102?

Day #63

Good morning, dear friends!

No worries, man

I have a lot to say but I don't have much time. Feeling so grateful and blessed for my 63 clean days and praying for many more...

#TYH

All the best,

OivedElokim

I wrote a poem inspired by my dear friend Oveid's journey. Here it is.

The once mighty eagle, the lord of the skies,

With his fearsome brow and fierce yellow eyes,

Is now lacking strength, his great feathers their luster

To fly and to track and to hunt he can't muster

His talons are dull and his beak is now blunted

The great bird, the hunter, is now the one hunted

The fledglings of the nest are waiting, desiring

To end the reign of the old ruler who's tiring

With no other choice to hold on to the throne

The eagle smashes his beak on the cliff's largest stone

He pulls off the old feathers, ignoring the pain

He sharpens his talons, his tall roost to regain

Invigorated and restored, his loud cry sends the word

You can't unseat the master, long live tough ole' bird

In the dark of the ocean a great beast does sleep

An ancient monster, the dark lord of the deep

Impenetrable husk, and shrewd inky eyes

With heavy claws and their terrible vise

He can live forever if he does choose

To cast off his shell, his prison to lose

But the strength that it takes to shake of his slumber

To wriggle and struggle and break free unencumbered

Is his greatest predator, his lethal foe

The final usurper he must overthrow

To leave himself vulnerable, his weakness expose

As his new form takes hold and his character grows

With one last attempt he flees the strangling embrace

Of his loyal guardian, the safe carapace

With all off his might he abandons his chains

The ancient one lives on, his kingdom remains

The man gives a hard breath and looks up above

Torn between progress and the faith that he loves

The soothing reminders of the life he once led

The thrill and discovery that beckon ahead

A life's worth off torment has left its mark

The past slowly fades into the soft dark

As the man gets ready to leave it behind him

An attack on the cradle of faith does remind him

The desert foxes crawl up the high hill

With bloody hands many candles they still

A burst of confusion makes his mind see

That he must face head-on his destiny

Turning his back on the deeps that are shallow

To return to the path he now knows is hallowed

Shedding his feathers, his old self he purges

Throwing of his worn shell, a new man emerges

If you like this poem, please give Oveid a karma.
