

Technology Addiction: The Chronicles

Posted by bm263 - 22 Mar 2021 05:07

@??????

Post away.

=====

=====

Re: Technology Addiction: The Chronicles

Posted by ?????? - 22 Mar 2021 05:25

thanks bro!

When i first saw the title of this post, i was like what are the chances someone saw my thread and decided to name their own thread that?!

Shalom Aleichem!

I haven't posted on this thread in a lil while so heres an update:

I was gonna try to start being more productive as of rosh chodesh Nissan. However that didn't exactly work out as I was hoping it would. I am still having a lot of difficulty motivating myself to do my work (both schoolwork and parnassah), to exercise, and to daven (I have a hard time

In other news, today i let my sister borrow my laptop for the rest of the week and I'm already experiencing some symptoms of withdrawal from that lol. Like i still have my phone that I can do stuff on but its so heavily filtered BH that it doesn't work as well. Plus the pc version of this site is sooo much more user-friendly than the app. (Btw, does anyone know if you can get the gye chat messages on the gye app?)

Still clean tho baruch Hashem!

=====

=====

Re: Technology Addiction: The Chronicles
Posted by YeshivaGuy - 22 Mar 2021 14:27

Welcome back!

A question, there's no shul by you? Why need you daven b'yichidus. I'm not chalila judging you, just trying to help.

Oy, withdrawal is rough... Keep posting, keep in touch and keep shteiging!

YeshivaGuy

=====

=====

Re: Technology Addiction: The Chronicles
Posted by ?????? - 22 Mar 2021 15:08

Thanks!

The shul is a half hour drive from where I live which means shabbos I have to stay there. Plus during the week, even if I could make the drive to minyan, there's usually no minyan so it wouldn't be much better than davening at home anyways. Oy the tzorres of living so out of town, there's a ranch in my backyard...