

After 67 days, zero again, but no I'm happy

Hi Guys.

After more than 2 months, I failed again.

But, as I told you when I posted my first month, Now I'm Happy, cause it's a battle Day by Day. The first month was too easy for me, but I was so focused that I could win that month. But then the ietzer hara about the day 50 aprox started figh with me and now day 67 I'm again in number 0. But it's not 0, cuz I get here after 67 days without THAT.

I will get up and start again. Anyone with me?

Something I would ask myself: What will you do different so that it doesn't happen again?

I am with you here. I fell after 52 days last week. Such a stupid fall! but i got back up again and am moving forward.. The key is to get back on it straight away!

Wishing you (and me) much Hatzlacha and BH we'll both do better this time around!

I had a fall last week after 112 days - it was so stupid too, worthless. Exactly as @yechielmichel said, I gotta implement in this strategy exactly what come me up this time so it doesn't happen again - and I'm excited for the fight that it won't! bring it on!

I'm more concerned with myself and self-reflection on the "what the heck syndrome" and not letting that get to me. It took me a 6 days before I opened GYE again. Not cool. Not cool.

Part of my plan also gotta include understanding the yezyer hara of "What the heck"

Chazok bro! - I'm with you!
