

Never Alone

Posted by vertigo1978 - 05 Jul 2024 14:33

I thought for a while before choosing my subject line.

I will try again with the help of Hashem to succeed in this 90 day journey.

?It is a perfect time to start as Rosh Hashanah will arrive after the 90.

I am walking alone in the sense that I do not feel like I have bread in my basket (see previous posts).

But I believe that if I can be strong (by giving my will over to Him) then my wife will assist in getting me to the finish line.

All I need to do is put in my effort for this moment.

Will be"n try to check in daily and share my progress and insight.

=====
=====