

Staying the course

Posted by baalteshuvawannabee - 09 Jul 2024 02:01

Although individually every day is just one day and may seem insignificant, like compound interest were surprised by the cumulative effect of just one more moment of clarity, one moment of being congruent with our stated goal of sobriety.

For me this is day number 10 and I look forward to continued reporting, sharing, getting and giving support and understanding.

Continued success to us all, and all success really means sometimes is getting up after another failure.

Certainly, at age 68, I've had my share of being fortunate to do that again n again.

Thanks for listening.

=====
=====