For those of you who haven't done so, when you login to update your 90 day chart, add a link to your log here. This makes it easy for those who want to give you chizuk get in touch. Don't miss out on this! :-) hi steve,

its easy you just need to update your profile, when you click on "still clean", see at the bottom of the screen "edit your profile" click on that, then put the link of your journey in the "If you have a story or log on the forum, enter the url " thats all my friend.

Derch agav, glad to hear you are taking advantage of the 90 day chart program. If you have any suggestions for improvements or features, we are always open to hear.

The links should lead to your own personal thread, and if you don't have one yet, I highly recommend making one...

I also highly recommend making a flying skateboard, it would make you insanely rich,,,
