

Kedusha's Progress

Posted by Kedusha - 25 May 2009 20:03

Dear Guard: I have indeed been sending my progress e-mails to wallohonor@gmail.com.
Somehow, they are not getting through. So, instead, I will keep you posted from here.

=====
=====

Re: Kedusha's Progress

Posted by israel613120 - 20 May 2013 04:15

We are not fighting the YH as a process to get through in order to be able to get back to normal life; the fight with the YH is the essence of our existence

Found this Gem, I'd like to add it as my signature, (I figure out how)

It'll help loads. To me for sure, and other too.

=====
=====

Re: Kedusha's Progress

Posted by Kedusha - 21 May 2013 00:07

Thank you to all who posted their words of encouragement!

Israel, it's true that I don't spend that much time on the forum anymore. I have posted here and there, but you're right that, without even realizing it, I didn't post on my own thread for almost an entire year.

To answer your question, it's 100% true that this challenge gets easier over time, if we make sure to avoid any slips. At the same time, it's a major mistake to become complacent. So, it's somewhat of a delicate balance. But, living clean is so incredibly wonderful once a person has experienced it, that it's hard to imagine why a person would want to do anything to put their sobriety in jeopardy.

Hope that helps!

=====

=====

Re: Kedusha's Progress

Posted by gibbor120 - 21 May 2013 00:11

Mazal Tov Kedusha!

=====

=====

Re: Kedusha's Progress

Posted by Kedusha - 21 May 2013 00:12

Thank you, Gibbor!

=====

=====

Re: Kedusha's Progress

Posted by israel613120 - 21 May 2013 04:49

can someone tell me how to add a signature to my name?

=====

=====

Re: Kedusha's Progress

Posted by Gevura Shebyesod - 21 May 2013 06:36

Click on your name to go to your profile. On the right side directly opposite where it says "Profile for " there is an "Edit" button. Click that then go to the 'Profile Information' tab and scroll to the bottom.

=====
=====

Re: Kedusha's Progress

Posted by ZemirosShabbos - 21 May 2013 19:24

Mazel Tov Kedusha!

thanks for all your efforts on behalf of GYE

wishing you much continued hatzlacha

=====
=====

Re: Kedusha's Progress

Posted by reallygettingthere - 21 May 2013 20:21

M'chayil el choyil

May Hashem continue to grant you hatzlocho, simcha and peace

Eli

=====
=====

Re: Kedusha's Progress

Posted by tehylimzugger - 10 Jun 2013 15:49

Kedusha wrote:

Living clean is so incredibly wonderful once a person has experienced it, that it's hard to imagine why a person would want to do anything to put their sobriety in jeopardy.

Now that's a quote!

[strike]A quotation is a good sort of thing to have handy.[/strike] ^{edit} A quotation is a handy thing to have about, saving one the trouble of thinking for oneself.]

=====

Re: Kedusha's Progress

Posted by yishay - 10 Jun 2013 19:13

Kedusha wrote:

To answer your question, it's 100% true that this challenge gets easier over time, if we make sure to avoid any slips. At the same time, it's a major mistake to become complacent. So, it's somewhat of a delicate balance. But, living clean is so incredibly wonderful once a person has experienced it, that it's hard to imagine why a person would want to do anything to put their sobriety in jeopardy.

Hope that helps!

Someone please tell me if I'm wrong, but I see it as a promotion. A person can start off working on the assembly line and earn a promotion to be a foreman. (manager, director, etc...) The work is different. It may be less dangerous, it may be more rewarding, you see a "bigger picture" but you're still on the job.

I wish you Mazal Tov on your "promotions", may you continue Meychayil el Chayil

=====

Re: Kedusha's Progress

Posted by Machshovo Tova - 10 Jun 2013 19:26

Kedusha wrote:

... But, living clean is so incredibly wonderful once a person has experienced it, that it's hard to imagine why a person would want to do anything to put their sobriety in jeopardy.

Hope that helps!

If I may add: living clean is so incredibly wonderful once a person has experienced it, and living unclean is so incredibly miserable as we all have experienced so many times, that it's hard to imagine why a person would want to do anything to put their sobriety in jeopardy and return to wretched misery.

MT

=====
=====

Re: Kedusha's Progress

Posted by gibbor120 - 10 Jun 2013 19:34

=====
=====

Re: Kedusha's Progress

Posted by israel613120 - 10 Jun 2013 22:22

Someone please tell me if I'm wrong, but I see it as a promotion. A person can start off working on the assembly line and earn a promotion to be a foreman. (manager, director, etc...) The work is different. It may be less dangerous, it may be more rewarding, you see a "bigger picture" but you're still on the job.

I wish you Mazal Tov on your "promotions", may you continue Meychayil el Chayil[/quote]

Spot on I think this is what Rabbi M Miller Zt"l meant when he was talking about our job being to move up the Nekudas HaBechira.

=====

Re: Kedusha's Progress
Posted by Dov - 11 Jun 2013 13:55

israel613120 wrote:

But Ain HaBayshan Lomaid.

Aye! Beutiful! That says it all right there!!!

=====

Re: Kedusha's Progress
Posted by israel613120 - 14 Jun 2013 04:22

There is also

????? ??? ?????? ??? ???

A lot of that goes on here

Truth is I feel I've learnt more in the last 4/5 month about myself and life and its struggles than in the past 20 years!

=====

====