

Chazak Amenu's climb

Posted by Chazak Amenu - 28 Feb 2010 02:09

I am an orthodox 14(turn 15 march 30) years old who home schools, i have come to the conclusion myself that homeschooling has nothing to do with my addiction because I don't have time to view porn during school hours do to homework. I first saw porn when I was nearing the end of 6th grade. I saw it accidentally while doing a book report for class. The character in the book was also the name of the porn star and pictures of her popped up. The first time i saw it I immediately closed down but i was curious and had just hit puberty so i opened it up again and looked. I did not know what s-x was at the time and only looked at nude pictures for a while but then I began looking for videos and could not find any for a while. I contented myself with opening multiple tabs at time viewing hundreds of non clothed females. One day I downloaded a virus thereby forcing my dad to buy a new computer. While at the store he bought me a laptop which until recently I never used because I did not want to betray my parents trust further. I found out the filters password and used it. I recently changed the password so I don't know it but no one knows it so hopefully that does not become a problem. There are still two other computers without filters. No one knows about my addiction not even my twin brother. I don't feel clean and I feel like I need to go to the Mikvah but I don't know how to go by asking without people becoming suspicious. I feel really bad because I have a slight break before learning Gemmara and a few times I have watched porn right before learning. I hope I can stop the addiction early in my life and continue to become a good Jew!

I think it's also good that you're looking forward to being busy and not having time for things you don't want to do...

this morning i asked my dad to put a filter on my laptop, i was really nervous before i asked but i finally just calmly went to him and asked i did not say much and he agreed to do it. i am not happy only because i don't know how long he is going to push it off i wanted him to do it right than but he said he would do it later and that if i could do my schoolwork with out it i should do it. but at least he agreed to do it at all, i don't think there is any hope of him putting one on his, when my brother asked if he could do work on my dads computer while his was down my dad fixed his very quickly, he does not want anyone on his computer so for him there is no reason why he would need a filter on it, no one is allowed on it and i have my own so if you look at it from his perspective there is no reason for a filter but at least i will have one on my computer.

Glad to hear it - you're protecting yourself as best you can, and that's the important thing.

You are truly amazing!

Smart man - get some sleep!

And yeah, in a way, inappropriate stuff can be more dangerous, because it doesn't have that same red flag that straight-up po^% does. So we can try to convince ourselves that it's really OK...

Glad to hear that you're not doing that - you rock!

The 'filter' news is the best thing I've heard you report in a long time. Gutsy, risky, scary, yet at the same time powerful and positive and G-d-fearing. Shkoiach.

As to reading 'inappropriate' things, I'll share one recent personal account. I was at a (non-Jewish) graduation ceremony. It was warm weather, young graduates, mostly younger friends and audience members, etc. In other words, girls with dresses SO short you had to figure they were saving up to get the rest of the skirt out of layaway. Necklines, well, no necklines! And I found myself really distracted.

In the past, I don't think this would have bothered me. Now, it's driving me crazy. (Yes, guys, I do mean women driving me crazy. 'Nuff said.) Instead of getting all down on myself, I realized that this GYE work is indeed making my eyes MORE sensitive to erotic overtones, not less so. It's not that I'm more creepy, it's that I've become more pure/edel/whatever.

So now I feel I have to be MORE concerned about "merely" inappropriate circumstances that aren't overt pnography. And in more settings than before.

But funny thing is, I think this is a GOOD sign.

If there's any chance this might be happening to you, you might want to think about "upgrading" your reading material. As you upgrade your thought patterns, the old G-rated movies and books because PG in your eyes; PG into PG-13, etc.

Just a thought. Again, congrats on the filter conversation with your dad!!

"Dad? You know that filter you offered to reinstall on my laptop? Well, er, um, I was hoping if I could help you install it now? I don't really know how to say this, but I'd feel better if I knew that only appropriate stuff was coming onto the screen. If now's not good, could we do it tomorrow, maybe at about 8:30? Thanks."

'Nuff said? You're gonna make it, kid.
