

Bruce's Battle

OK guys, it took me a little while but I'm finally up on this part of the forum. Most of you probably know who I am by now, so I won't repeat my story. You can find that and a bunch of other stuff at my original thread here: rehab-my-site.com/guardureyes/forum/index.php?topic=503.0

I will be posting my progress towards 90 clean days almost every day here. Updates will be right before I go to sleep, once the day's victory is secure, or the next morning.

This thread is really for myself. I don't care if no one reads it. It's here to keep me accountable and to help me get there.

So far I have been clean for 4 days. Today will hopefully be number 5.

Nothing to be juiced about.

]I could be saying your exact words Bruce, but the truth really is, that if you choose to, you CAN be excited and enthusiastic about life.

And if I can say that - anybody can.

I'm seriously Mr. Blah Lethargic.

Semester hasn't started yet so I don't know.

And I can't really skip classes, at least the science ones, because they draw heavily from the notes and if you aren't there then you are royally screwed. Except for bio 101. I didn't go to that one then entire second semester.

I'm tired of being a student anyway. Want to get on with my life...which means being a student again later....

I sort of have one but it's off and on for reasons beyond my control. Hopefully, it will become more regular. Take your metamucil.

Bruce Dear, you should start a metal band. You could scream, shout, spew, be bitter, biting, bleak and get paid for it!

Yeah, you can call your band "Take your Metamucil." Or maybe "metalmucil?"

I played guitar for a year in 7th grade but I quit when I hit 8th grade, partly because I took up basketball and partly because--I think--I didn't get enough positive reinforcement from my parents about it. It's only the rare 12 year old who is self motivated enough to do his practice all on his own. A high schooler is different.

Lately, I've been wanting to pick up a guitar again reaaaalll bad. Also, my first guitar was a crappy acoustic. I wanted an electric. So I think part of it was also that I couldn't create the sound I was looking for.

Now if only I could pay for lessons...

Guitar is awesome, you should definitely go for it! Personally, I love acoustic, but if you prefer electric, then go for that!

You can get a decent electric for fairly cheap, especially if you don't mind getting a used one - just make sure you go with someone who knows what they're doing.

As far as lessons, you can learn the basics from a friend, and with just basics, there's a LOT that you can play!

I still remember most of what I learned.

Don't worry, I'll let you guys know when I release my first studio album....

I'll take the millions I'll make from it and donate to GYE!

Now if only I could find the time to play....

You're right. It's going to go at least quadruple platinum in the first 3 weeks...not to mention all the concerts, endorsements, etc.

This is how Guard will get his 2 million...make 20 million.
