

Please, please G-d may this be the first step...

hi,

my name is jamie,

i live in london and became religious when i was about fifteen and it was around that ime when i first found out the true horror of what my sin has bee for the last few years.

i am 18 and just finishing my end of school exams and then i am off to yeshiva!!!

i am just starting this wall because the time has realy come for me to bring about the decisive change i have davened for and wished for, for so long.

i am quite nervoius about this whole community board thing bu t found out about th website in februray when i visited yu and saw posters about it al over the walls (pherhaps that is why Hashem sent me to new york??)

anyway, before i was religious and throught no bad of it i have been badly addicted and in the last 2 years i have been continuously struggling for so so long. all i really want to do is stop but i just find it so hard, and it breaks me but then i get even more week and continue to do it untill i feel to guilty for a week, and the cycle continues, i even said i would give ten pounds to tzedaka and go to the mikva every time a couple of moths ago and since then ive had to give over 100 pounds to charity andnow have a mikva membership itrs so often!!!

i just feel so so low that ive faiked so many times and am so addicited in this awful struggle.

so i have now decided to take the steps in the 90 day log, looking at how close this community are truely inspiores me, so hopefully, with becoming part of the family, in my 90 day runup to leaving for erez yisroel to yeshiva (just realised i go in almost exactly 90 days!) Pleas please HAKADOSH BARUCH HU, will help me to break free finally, with all the help, chizuk and determination he sends my way!

chang samach and hopefully this will now become the start of a very long, but truely meaningful and happening journey thanks!

i dont know what to do...

I know exactly what you are supposed to do!

Get up off the floor,

stop the vidui,

and start living again!

We count how many times we fall. HASHEM counts how many times we get back up.

The past is gone.

The future is not yet here.

All we have is right this minute.

And for right this minute, you CAN do it!

Rooting for you!

Hi Jaimie,

I hope you're having a good day today. I just wanted to share that the struggle drives me crazy as well. That's why I've tried to follow the 12 steps as best as I can according to how I'm learning from Duvid Chaim on his call. It's about learning how to be in a better place so that the struggle isn't there as much. Waddya think?

Repetition is a sign of stupidity. Repetition is a sign of stupidity. Repetition is a sign of stupidity.
Repetition is a sign of stupidity...

Well, then, Nevermore, I GUESS REPETITION LIVES IN NEW YORK CITY.

Sincerely yours,

- An Out of Towner

PS: Why is the sign reading fuhgeddaboutit for drivers on their way OUT of Brooklyn? See?
More stupidity.

The other day I saw a billboard sign that said: NEED HELP, CALL JESUS 1-800-555-3787. Out of curiosity, I did. A Mexican guy showed up with a lawnmower.

I'm confused... So the stupidity theme in all of this might be...

1. Jesus made a vague sign.
2. You made a silly call.
3. Both of you thought NYC had any grass (as in green lawns!).
4. I'm continuing this inane hijack.

Can I get back to you on that?

Can I get back to you on that?

Yakshemash! Very niice, Borat! High five!

Dov asked me to be stupid for about 5 minutes a day. I think I'm having way too much fun with You're never too old to be immature!

Stupid people can't tell time.

They only know how to repeat themselves.

Themselves.
