

" Intentionally viewing improper sites" what does this mean?

Posted by chazakchazak - 04 Jun 2010 22:23

---

in one of the criteria for a "fall" it lists "Intentionally viewing improper sites." What about if you intentionally search for inappropriate images on Google? Is that considered " Intentionally viewing improper sites" even though Google is not necessarily an improper site? If someone could fill me in that would be great.

=====

=====

Re: " Intentionally viewing improper sites" what does this mean?

Posted by Ineedhelp!! - 06 Jun 2010 02:22

---

Ya I am pretty sure that would constitutes a fall...Its the same thing as going to a bad site.

=====

=====

Re: " Intentionally viewing improper sites" what does this mean?

Posted by chazakchazak - 06 Jun 2010 04:15

---

Thanks Yiddle. If that's the case, I think the wording of that rule should be changed to "intentionally viewing improper web PAGES," because as it stands it is potentially confusing and unclear.

=====

=====

Re: " Intentionally viewing improper sites" what does this mean?

Posted by Ineedhelp!! - 06 Jun 2010 04:29

---

We'll bring it up at the next board meeting ;D

So chazakchazak are you new here?

Why not introduce yourself?

-Yiddle

=====

=====