Hooray! by deleting each & every bogus ties you are cutting through the strands thYH has tied around you. (see beis medrasg Suka 52) you are making a stronger online connection with the living G-d and his people. May HaShem hear your prayers!

Each time you pushed that "delete" button, it gave you the same schar as being Makriv a Korban. The korban being "YOU". You were Makriv yourself to Hashem.

the battle plan wages on for the second day !!! and no MB !!!!....so i woke today ....feeling a new found sprituality dont ask him how...maybe that little pray i said when i woke in the middle of the night and couldnt sleep and having my son sleeping next to me ... i said hashem this stress your causing me i understand ..its the type of tough love not pushiment u want to show me just live by the rules and you have a restful night with no worries or dram no issues.....so when i woke this moring to go to daven and never really paid attetion to the words in daving ..but my gosh how much is said in borchas to combat the YH i was like wow.... hashem give us the tools ever moring to combat the YH and we never use them instead he use he tools on us to stary and look at things.....so after daving i got in the car to go to work and the perfect song came on Hamelamed Torah from Yaakov Shwekey i was is hashem telling me something i dont know....but driving to work and listing to this song i dont know what came over me while driving i started to cry i felt the small pipe to hashem become a huge pipe and felt as hashem open all communications like he removed the stress and saying you have nothing to worry about my son.....just keep on this new found path and i will keep you from all evil and it feels amazing

One day at a time means don't worry about the rest of the days. You have accomplished so much already!

With much admiration,

Hoping

Need,

First, a royal welcome to the GYE forum.

I find that staying clean is like breathing fresh air, whereas acting out, while it might seem good at the time (it usually doesn't!), is very suffocating. Staying clean, one day at a time, will allow you to sleep peacefully, and be at peace with yourself during your waking hours as well.

Good Moring All,

Day # 3 I got to admit I slept very well last night ...and no MB for the 3rd day !!! bu t i got to admit the YH is trying hard to throwing ideas into my head this morning ...but i closed my eyes took a deep breath and just relaxed .....it cleared my mind....so this morning when I woke up I felt different for a change closer to hashem felt as though my soul went up to the heavens and got squeezed out by the angels and sent back down all fixed up....with hashem protection throughout the day I feel as we as a group could accomplish anything .... ....i think there is a part of me that is saying hashem is placing obstacles in front of me but we need to keep jump over them.....

Great!

Just think of that moment of strength when you took a deep breath -

that was the moment of victory!

To have the presence of mind to be aware of your thoughts, and to choose of your own free will to think about something else - is your true human power.

Keep your breathing battle going - just one more breath, and the urge will pass, you will be have the space to choose a productive activity.

the biggest chizzuk is you when you deleted the sewage

you created the biggest kli kibbul for kedusha

hop on the elevator

we are shootng for the stars

even if we miss

we will have tried

keep on smiling
