

fresh start

Posted by Sturggle - 06 Jul 2009 19:35

I was on the list before under a different name and I decided to change it. Previously I was "David". I am nearing the end of my 4th day clean. Today was difficult and challenging. Thanks to your help, I have had a filter (K9) on my computer since Thursday afternoon. That has been helpful. Anyway, happy to be on this journey of sobriety. I'm not so sure how much to disclose about myself and what to write on these forums. I hope to make use of them, though. I have needed, do need and will need help and support.

Thanks for your kind words.

I have what to post about today.

B"H, nothing major in the lust category.

Wow, I should read that sentence again and really take it in.

That's something I shouldn't take for granted.

I did feel pain and sadness at points throughout the day.

I wonder if it's alright for me to posting about my underlying issues here and not focus so much on the sex part of things.

That's not real anyway, but it is coming from a real place.

Guard, did you really think that two weeks ago?

Any thoughts?

Just something I was thinking about

Otherwise, I'm going to leave off here.

Slichos are early tomorrow.

And again, I will not be around much tomorrow or after yom tov. I am thinking about all of you and davening for all of you!!

b'ahava,

Sturggle

sturggle, I just want to say you're an amazing guy! About two weeks ago you sounded so bitter and I asked myself, "who IS this guy?" And now I am just amazed at your happy, loving, holy, inspiring attitude!! You bring so much life to the forum!

hey!!! I was going to mention that sturggle seemed happier!

and i think your depression and your addiction were so intertwined that posting about both here is not only ok, it's GOOD

I'm glad your attitude is so positive now.
I did feel pain and sadness at points throughout the day

Im not sure if this is what your talking about, but before I was in recovery, I couldn't feel any emotions at all. (besides for those few lucid moments when I understood what I was doing and then I would be in turmoil , & cry bitterly for hours, feeling sad to the point of pain) I even stopped listening to music, which is something I LOVE. Once I started stopping (hey, that was) I gradually was able to feel more of my emotions again.

Shana Tova Sturggle! May you only know of happiness and recovery this Yr! With moshiach,

I am feeling it a bit.

I am also entitled to some good days, no?

A rollercoaster is a rollercoaster. Ups and downs.

And sometimes they're sharp and hair-raising.

You know that feeling when you're stomach feels like it's going to fall out?

Anyway, just stopping in for a sec.

Thinking of you guys...

If it's really over, great.

But that's a thought I have had many times in the past.

I've been working on this for a while.

Both the addiction and the depression.

I think there's still a lot of work.

I don't think that's a bad thing, though.

Not going deeper into that at the moment.

I would like to take this opportunity, as others have done,
to ask for mechila from anyone who I may have deliberately or inadvertently offended in a any way, whether you may be aware or unaware.

As so, I forgive everyone and anyone who has possibly wronged me in any way.

It's beautiful to watch your positive attitude lately... Keep it up!

i agree wholeheartedly.

i dont know if any of us really understand the struggles sturggle has daily.

i think i know more than any on this forum,and i stand in awe of this guy.

hes on 35 days!!

its true,he complains sometimes.

but its not really complaining.

this guy cries out.

and hes there for me so so much.

his own problems become like nothing when he hears others are falling.

hes a machine of marvelous middos.

im actually at his house right now and hes reading this over my shoulder,blushing away.

but yea,hes the man.

and his resolve has helped me through my own battles time and time again.

and thats when hes not calling me to check on me.

and with all that he goes through-35 days!!!

baruch hashem we have sturggle,our big brother
