

Tzvi's Progress

Posted by Tzvi - 08 Nov 2010 15:36

Today is day one for me.

That may not sound great, but the truth is it's much better than day zero. Kedusha was one of the people that gave me advice on what to choose for a taphsic k'noss.

I chose kappettel 119 as the k'noss like he suggested.

I'm not doing shavuois though. I'm stam doing a kaballah bli neder which should be good enough for me.

Unfortunately I'm used to falling a few times a day, and often I will have to suffer with very strong urges that just don't seem to go away.

Now is very tough.

The urge is bigger than ME.

It's huge.

I surrender the urge to the RBS"O.

I can't do more than that.

I I I I can do nothing nothing nothin.

Only the RBS"O. zehu.

I accept the pain.

I accept the pain.

oy is it painful.

:-[

this is embarrassing, but it is very painful to hold myself back.

I need chizuk.

Take a jog or play a computer game (or some other mind numbing activity) it may help. Donno how old you are but you may find this somewhat fun...

Tzvi,

When you are hurting, we are hurting so don't carry that pain all by yourself. However, I have bad news for you... when you fall, you bring us all down with you... and we don't want to go there!

Stay strong my brother. Hashem wants you clean... but I neeeded you clean. I'll make you a deal - if you stay clean just for today, so will I.

Keep in touch my friend. Hatzlocha.

wow!

Such wonderful responses.

Thank you raboisai.

Thank you so much.

When I get some time I want to respond to each reply individually.
