I assume it has good stuff!

However as you well know, tens and possibly hundreds of friends on GYE can tell you, this man I believe single-handedly has helped countless fellows via the most successful tool on GYE which is reaching out and connection!

Reading his blogs can be helpful, But it does not do justice to him or to the hundreds that can be helped with his kind tone and direct guidance.

It's about time you put out something like this;

NEW F2F PROGRAM

Warning: Spoiler!

?Mentors Are Ready to help at no charge!

For Addicts email Dov...

For Non-Addicts email HHM...

The mentor will reply and is happy to chat with you over the phone at your convenience

I skimmed through it and it looks great!

It seems like a collection of HHM's posts. I love that it's short.

Perhaps it can be edited, a couple of things were repetitive. There was a section "not just pornography" and the topic was already discussed in "wet dreams".

Overall, I love the content.

Wow wow wow! This is amazing news. It sounds amazing to just have Hashem Help Me downloaded on my computer instead of calling (bothering) him. Although I know he loves when we call and is always there to help and guide.

Thank you GYE and Thank you HHM.

Thank you!.

One caveat. To echo what Markz said, maybe a little more bluntly, reading wise sayings and good advice is very nice. It can help remind us of what we need to know, carry it around with us and review these critically important lessons.

But if you have not met him yet - reading this guide won't compare to meeting and talking with him and experiencing his genuine care and understanding, his warmth and compassion, his wisdom and experience and (sometimes blunt) invaluable guidance. [Same probably goes for other special mentors I haven't yet had the zchus to meet.]

Hey! Don't you guys on GYE know that stuff downloaded to your computer isn't a replacement for a healthy, real relationship?!
